

The War Between the States: America's Uncivil War

Chapter 14 – Stonewall

Identification:

1. Thomas J. Jackson
2. Margaret Junkin Preston
3. George McClellan

Completion:

1. After a shocking early defeat, President Lincoln, named General _____ as commander of the main Federal army, which would shortly be named the Army of the Potomac.
2. The western border state of _____ was sharply divided between those of Federal and Confederate sympathies in both its government and general population, and eventually suffered a virtual civil war of its own.
3. In 1861, the Confederates won the first significant battle of the war in both major theaters, the Battle of _____ in the state of _____ in the Eastern Theater, and the Battle of _____ in the state of _____ in the Western Theater.
4. Karl Marx wrote that Abraham Lincoln was the “single-minded son of the _____.”
